Work with an IT partner, not an IT vendor.

Hello. This is who Stemp Systems is. This is who Stemp Systems isn't. We're professionals' professionals. A passionate team of technical wizards who have been taming technology since 1986. Today, over 50 medical practices and community health centers trust us as their outsourced IT management and support experts because we're a dedicated business partner who's deeply committed to exceeding expectations. We have the rigor to do things right through exacting standards and leadership-style thinking. And we do it all with honesty, integrity and transparency. That's who Stemp is. Anything less, is who we are not.

IT wisdom vaporizes IT confusion.

Wisdom gets stronger as issues get tougher. (Stemp won't be stumped.) Many IT companies are smart. Our aim is to be wise. We have a disciplined approach, one that doesn't overwhelm anyone with knowledge. Instead, we believe the real value is in offering you the clarity that cuts through all the complexity with enlightened thinking and solutions. Ultimately, we will enhance your practice by focusing on the performance and capabilities of the technologies vital to your success. We're IT perfectionists, dedicated to providing precise IT judgment, because an enlightened client is a sane client.

Follow-through is a human thing, not a hardware thing. Hire accordingly.

Technology is only as good as the human effort behind it. There is no such thing as human downtime at Stemp Systems. We're a crackerjack technical service and support team that proactively monitors issues and resolves them before they cause system failure. We're essentially well dressed IT Navy Seals who will solve any issue with expert diagnostics and precise execution. Two words can sum us up. Chop. Chop.

Business moves fast. Technology moves faster. Work with someone who keeps pace.

Only invest in an IT company that truly invests in itself. To be on top of our game, and yours, means investing in ourselves wisely. Our entire team constantly attends industry specific training classes and seminars, as well as IT forums held by our technology partners. We invest further by continuously upgrading our own IT infrastructure. Staying ahead is the whole idea behind leading.

Trust is something that isn't for sale anywhere, ever.

Exceeding expectations is the thing we take exceedingly serious. IT trust is rewarded through doing things right while simultaneously doing the right thing, at all times, day or night, no matter the situation. Period. That's how expectations get exceeded. Preserving your IT sanity comes down to trusting someone who will truly have your IT back. Always. We're that someone.
